I. STOCKTON CREDIT-BY-EXAMINATION PROGRAM

Currently-registered undergraduate students in good standing may receive credit for certain courses by successful performance in examinations offered by an academic program. An undergraduate student in good academic standing, may apply Credit-by-Examination program in subjects that are a part the standard instructional modes in which the subjects are taught. By successful performance on examinations, a student may receive Stockton credits for demonstrated academic achievement. The amount of credit to be earned by successful performance on each examination shall be specified by the Office in advance of any examination for credit.

A student must register for a credit examination with the University Examiner in supplementary laboratory, practicum, or performance examination may be required to satisfy major program requirements. In some cases, accreditation standards do not allow for a credit-by-examination.

If appropriate, the student must complete and submit an application to Office. The reviews applications for the Credit-by-Examination program and approves or disapproves applications based on applicability to
